

Fabienne Gimenez

Senior Vice President, Strategy and Business Development for ADP's Global Enterprise Solutions business

As Senior Vice President of Strategy and Business Development for ADP's Global Enterprise Solutions (GES) division, Fabienne provides direction and leadership in developing and implementing the global strategic and business development plans that enable the GES business unit to grow profitably with a disciplined execution framework. Her role entails research and analysis of market trends and business metrics as well as recommending and implementing new product enhancements and programs to ensure the businesses achieves short and long term revenue growth goals.

Prior to joining ADP, Fabienne led global strategy and corporate development for various BU of S&P Global and spent several years at Thomson Financial (now Thomson Reuters) working on international business development and competitive intelligence.

Fabienne received a BA in Economics, a Masters in Corporate Finance and a DESS in European Finance and Banking from Universite of Toulouse in France.