

Bio: Fernanda Piedra

Fernanda Piedra, is the Regional Head of Financial Crime for the Americas at BlackRock. She is responsible for the implementation of regional Anti-Money Laundering (AML), Anti-Bribery and Corruption (ABC), Anti-Fraud and Sanctions Programs.

Ms. Piedra has over 15 years of experience in overseeing, developing and implementing global AML procedures and training programs at various global financial institutions. Prior to BlackRock, Ms. Piedra worked at Deutsche Bank as the Head of Regulatory Changes and Remediation for the Asset Wealth Management Division. Ms. Piedra worked at Goldman Sachs within the Anti-Money Laundering/Suspicious Activities Group. She started her career in AML at a major financial institution in Colombia.

Ms. Piedra earned a BA degree in Economics from the Autonomía University, a Specialization in Finance from the EAFIT University and an MBA from Montclair State University.